HONGKONG, THURSDAY, JUNE 6, 1878.

Judging from the returns in the Customs Gazette for the quarter ending March last, which has just reached us, trade at the newly-opened port of Wuhu seems to be making steady progress. The cotton goods imported spondence to E. Africa, the Cape, numbered 45,208 pieces against 17,076 during the previous October-December Letters may also be forwarded to India quarter; 33,373 during the July-September quarter, and 29,435 during the state and not identifiable, and orders were April-June quarter. The import of nailrod iron was 893 piculs, against nil in the April-June quarter of 1877; opium 525 piculs against 229; fans 977,090 against 33,000; and window-glass 7,900 square On, a coolle, was sentenced to 7 days' imfeet against 1,100. The exports show a prisonment for stowing himself away on much more satisfactory increase, the chief one, that of rice, being 78.011 piculs against nil in the April June quarter of 1877. Of this quantity of rice, however, the Government exported A FIREMAN belonging to the S. B. Yesso 27,407 piculs for the relief of sufferers by the famine in the North and at Foochow, and on this rice no duty was of course paid. No less than 183 foreignbuilt vessels called at the port during the quarter, of which 80 were river dead. The body was brought on here. steamers. The total revenue derived by the Customs from the port was Tls. 52,997. Formal returns are also given for the newly-opened port of Ichang, but no business whatever appears to have MAUS BY THE UNITED STATES PACKET, hear done there in foreign bottoms will be despatched on MONDAY, the show that the business of that port is 10th instant, with Mails for Japan, steadily increasing. Nineteen vessels, during the quarter, against seven in the corresponding quarter of 1877. The whole of these steamers were from Hongkong or Haiphong. All the chief imports exhibit an increase, but there is a sesamum seed, and, in fact, the majority of the exports.

> nature of American communists may be gathered from a report, appearing in the Californian papers, of a "banquet held in New York under the auspices of one of the communistic societies. room, we are told, was profusely decorat- have seized. ed with red; all the guests wore the same colour in some form or other, the Chairman appearing in a red shirt, while even the table napkins were red. The speeches were, however, the most striking part of the affair. From some unexplained reason the chief subject for discussion was the priesthood. The Chairman described the body as the "assassins of the people, the enemies of humanity, and rascals who always side with the strong against the weak," after which unqualified denunciation, we are told the speaker picked his teeth with his fork and smiled complacently. was followed by another gentleman, de scribed as having little hair and much cravat, who, after removing a clay pipe from his mouth, proposed in a few fiery remarks "the annihilation of the priests and all other rascals, and the destruction of the Church"—a toast which, it is added, was drunk with due honours and great enthusiasm. One interesting charge brought against Bishop Alemany during the evening was that he went round and collected all the five-cent pieces and got them coined into dimes. so that no one should drop ave-cent pieces into the collection boxes!

Hitherto one of the strongest arguments brought forward against Chinese emigration to the United States has been that the Chinaman will not or cannot affiliate himself to the ruling race and become to all intents and purposes an American citizen. Unless some alteration is effected in the statutes of the United States this argument must in future be abandoned ton. - English Mail leaves for Posts for it has just been decided in United States Circuit Court at San Francisco that under the laws of the land the Chinese are unable to take out papers of citizenship. It seems that a number of Chinese residents in the city had applied through their attorneys for the papers, whereupon a pioneer application was argued in Court, and alaborate decision pronounced upon it. The gist of it was that the laws had originally provided that "any allen, paint a free white person, may be admit. Testdence to Government House, ted to become a citizen," and the only modification of this provision now in force was contained in the Act of Congress of July 14th 1870, which extended the naturalization laws to "aliens of African nativity and to persons of African descent." The exclusion of Chinese on this last occasion, when Africans were admitted to the privilege of naturalisation, appears to have been intentional on the part of the Legislature. The Chinaman can certainly not be regarded as a "white person," nor, for the matter of that, can perhaps a large proportion of the population of Europe, but it seems a little hard on the Chinaman that, while our sooty friend can become a full-blown American citizen, that privilege is denied to a native of the Middle Kingdom. Providing "John" will cut off his tail, live on something more than rice, agree to have his bones laid in the country of his adoption, and become a little cleaner in his habits, we see no objection to his becoming a real unit of the American nation, and making as good a citizen of the United States as "Sambo" or any other coloured gentleman. The decision is, we believe, to be appealed against at the Supreme Court.

We omitted to make special note of his arrival yesterday, as his name was incorrectly returned to us as Yeb Shu Tung; the latter being simply the name of a gentle. man attached to the mission, and occupy. ing the position of the Secretary of Legation at Washington. His Excellency the Minister is at present staying in the premises lately occupied as the offices of the Mess. Mar. Company. He will go up to Canton in a few days, and on his return he. will start for San Francisco by one of the early steamers. His suite now assumes apparently very large proportions, numbering some forty members ; but when it is borne in mind that he has to provide a staff for three countries comprising six stations at the least, the number does not look so very much out of proportion. Indeed, the various branches of the mission are spoken of as being shorthanded. H. E. Chen called on H. In the thirteenth year, there was bestowed upon him by Imperial choice the Military Taotaichip of Socchow, Sungkieng and Talchow, in the province of Kiangsu, wherein he considered himself the recipient of a bountiful favour of his country, which he could not in the least repay. He also, although mourning over the death of his noble father as an exile from his native land and not yet brought to attend to his daily business, leave nothing undone that was brought to his knowledge; and, when he retired (at evening) to his abode would dwell apart and mourn at break of day he would rise from sleep therefore, although externally of full habi (or fat and flourishing), he was worn and wasted internally, he frequently begged leave to resign his office, and pass the frontier to bring back (his father's) coffin but was soothed and detained by all the high mandarine with representations congerning the unsettled condition of Western affairs, and the (consequent) difficulty of transit. In the second year of Kwang-su he heard that the Western army had subjugated the citles of Wu Lu Muh T'se (44° 30' N., 28° W. from Peking), and immediately once more passionately entreated (for a recess.) In the spring of the third year, he received by Imperial favour a recess for one year, without being replaced (i. e., his post was retained for him); the third month laid down his charge and commanded the unfilial K'i-biun remaining at Shanghai, to wait upon hi third younger uncle while he led tha unfilled K. f. bigg and journeyed West, braving the heat, threading the rivers Siang and Han, and traversing Shensi; in the 9th month he crossed the border at the Barkoul Pass. At that time his father's younger corpse and forwarded it eastward. Our reverend parent received intelligence of the same, and in the teeth of wind and snow travelled swiftly to Ngan-Sichow and received (the corpse), prostrating himself on the ground with prolonged lamentations. while tears of blood flowed copiously. Furthermore, because (his father's) concubine and 4th younger brother in 1860 had faithfully suffered death at the capital of Ili. and there were no means of gathering their remains (lit., seeking their soul), his anguish was deepened; he returned to Suh-chow (where) he suddenly contracted a severe cough and at times in night dreams would continually start with fear; but, without

Under this charge the accounts of several cases, together with all the papers, are in possession of the committee, and, when reached, will present some ourious specimens of jurisprudence and financiering skill. There are a number of other charges, amongst which are licensing drinking and other disreputable houses in the American concession, to the great notoriety and scandal of the place, and appropriating the proceeds; also, of withholding funds due to naval officers for serving on boards of survey of vessels, and, in fact, of a general abuse of his office for corrupt purposes. Mr Springer states that. as soon as the investigation is concluded suit will be brought against Mr Seward's sureties, but as his bonds amount to but $10,000, an effort will be made to recover the amount from the property which he has accumulated in this manner. The heirs in several estates known to have been exorbitantly taxed also intimate that they will bring suit. The committee will not subposne Minister Seward nor Mr Bradford directly but will immediately address a communication to the Secretary of State intimating that an opportunity will be given Mr Seward to give his testimony if he will make arrangements for his early return to the United States; otherwise the committee will be compelled to act upon the conclusive and corroborative testimony now in their possession. - Philadelphia Press.

AN AGREEABLE DISINFECTANT.-Under the title" Aromatic Ozonizer or Natural Air Purifier," Mr. Rimmel, the well-known perfumer, has brought out "a fragrant powder composed of the concentrated active principles of the pine and eucalyptus, which by simple slow evaporation in dwellings or places of public resort, generates the balmy, refreshing, and healthy atmosphere produced by those trees." The new disinfectant consists of sawdust of pine, cedar, and other coniferous woods impregnated with a mixture of volatile aromatic oils. of which that of the eucalyptus tree is: most important. Dr. Hassall declares it acts as an aërial disinfectant, absorbing foul and polluted air, and replacing it by cool, healthy, and fragrant breezes. He also reports that he has detected ozone (the most efficient and strongest atmospheric purifier) in the air of the room in which this new disinfectant has been exposed. Our experience of its use proves that it has a pungent, agreeable scent, and when left in a chamber gives off a peculiar refreshing and delicate perfume, reminding us of the atmosphere of a room overlooking the sea, or the scent of a wood in spring time.
